

SASUK Site Information

2017-03-03 20:13:15 by paul

Good news all, SASUK staff are pleased to announce that we have just hit 2842555 page views since February 23, 2015. We are increasingly popular and many guests past through the site for the latest updates on the team. The staff of SASUK would like to thank all our members for their continuous support of the last few years. As many of you are aware the team has been in existence since October 1998. Click on read more for more information about the teams next objectives.

Many of you are aware that the SASUK are strictly a non cheat airsoft team, having said that, the staff have now decided to create a "Wall of Shame" page to display all the players from various site that have been actively been caught cheating. As we have many various members from around the country visit us, it gives the players and managers the chance to view all the dishonest players. Clearly there will be a vigorous procedure in place once a player has been reported. Having said that, we will also allow benefit of doubt and an appeal procedure will actively be in place too. This is still a few months away from development, but please feel free to us to voice your opinion in this matter.

<http://www.sasukclan.co.uk/html/modules.php?name=News&file=article&sid=21>